

Liz Dunoon, author of 'Helping Children with Dyslexia' has just been invited to meet with Christopher Pyne.

This is a message from her to all educators and parents of children with dyslexia: For those of you who don't know.....Christopher Pyne is our current Australian Federal Minister for Education.

Late last week I received a letter from Christopher Pyne inviting me to attend a Policy Round Table discussion on Students with Dyslexia to be held in June.

In his invitation he states he has a strong interest in dyslexia. I have heard there is a family history of dyslexia and dyslexia advocacy in the Pyne family which is great for our cause.

I have been invited to attend this meeting because of the emails you have sent to my website.....

What would it be? Write directly to Christopher Pyne at www.australiandyslexiastrust.com.au and tell him your thoughts and feelings. You have my guarantee that your letter will be personally hand delivered to him on the day

Your letter could include....

- Your experience of having dyslexia
- How our teachers and schools could better support dyslexic students.
- How you feel as a parent of a child with dyslexia
- How you feel as a teacher of students with dyslexia
- Any frustrations you have about NAPLAN, tests and exams.
- Any professional development courses you would like to see offered.
- Any funding you believe should be offered for dyslexia screening, assessment or support.

DON'T HOLD BACK

Now is your chance to speak directly to Christopher Pyne and influence how future government policy is written, funded and implemented to help all children and future children with dyslexia.

Your email can be anything from 10 to 500 words. Click here NOW to write to Christopher Pyne .....Don't wait... Do It Now.
