

making connections

Raising the achievement of vulnerable students

DYSLEXIA / LEARNING DIFFERENCES CONFERENCE

31ST OCTOBER 2015

10% of children have dyslexia, most go unrecognised, leading to academic failure, poor self-esteem, anxiety and depression. Teachers and parents want to do their best for vulnerable children, but no one can do it alone.

Connect with leading experts to create inclusive classrooms using practical, evidence based approaches that not only benefit children with dyslexia, but all children.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- School Principals
- Teachers
- Psychologists
- Literacy Coordinators
- Parents/Families
- Teacher Aides
- Speech Pathologists
- Early Childhood Educators

WHERE: Medical Science Precinct,
17 Liverpool Street, Hobart, Tasmania

WHEN: Saturday 31st October 2015,
from 9.15am – 4.30pm

COST: EARLY BIRD.....$175
SQUARE PEGS MEMBER$165
FULL PRICE$195

www.dyslexiatas.org • Facebook: squarepegstas

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Neil MacKay
DYSLEXIA SPECIALIST

“Neil MacKay is a freelance consultant and trainer who created the concept of Dyslexia Friendly Schools. He is an experienced teacher who has taught for 26 years, working with children with a wide range of ages, needs and ability. His audiences particularly appreciate his ability to offer workable responses to a range of learning needs, including AD(H)D, Asperger’s Syndrome and Dyspraxia in ways which meet diverse learning needs without affecting the work of the rest of the class.”

Discover more at www.actiondyslexia.co.uk

PLUS

Six leading speakers delivering workshops on inclusive teaching strategies, resilience, explicit instruction and assistive technology.

Thank you to our sponsors:

BOOK NOW AT www.trybooking.com/IHMX